Win an 'Award'--- Name Cafe Rooms

You may have the opportunity to name one of the five rooms in the Student Union Dining Hall, which are as yet nameless. A contest beginning at 10 o'clock this morning will give everyone in the college community an opportunity to name one or more of the rooms. Entries in the contest will be accepted in the ASSFSC business office, Hut T-1, from 10 a.m. today until the close of the contest Monday, October 19th at 3 p.m. More than one entry may be submitted.

The rooms to be named are; the main dining room, the grill room, group dining rooms number one and two, and the faculty dining room. The names used for the rooms at the present time are temporary.

Students, faculty, and the staff are eligible to participate in the contest. The awards for winning contestants will be scrolls of merit.

The name for the building, College Union Dining Hall, was chosen last summer. It is the first building of the College Union to be constructed. It was suggested that the Board of Directors name the rooms in a summer meeting, but the board felt that the students should have the opportunity of naming the rooms.

Judging in the contest will be done by an impartial committee selected by the Board of Directors. Names of the winners will appear in GOLDEN GATER.

Fall Enrollment Reaches All Time High; 6200 Enroll

Describing this fall's registration of both regular and limited students as "a record total," John L. Bergstresser, dean of students at San Francisco State, announced that 4168 regular and 2032 limited students had enrolled in classes as of October 2.

Dean Bergstresser wished to stress the fact that although both the total registration, 6200, and the total regular students, 4168, were an all time high, withdrawals throughout the semester may modify the present tabulations. The statistics on veterans are a bit misleading, according to Bergstresser, as there are more than 800 WW II and Korean vets attending State.

No figures are available as to the number of men or women students, awaiting the results of the census taken by the registrar's office this week. But Dean Bergstresser thought that by the past semester's indication the student population would most likely be evenly divided in regard to sex.

There weren't any means available to determine the effect of the Selective Service Act on the number of male students enrolled, but recently separated veterans are expected to compensate for any possible loss.

$5800 To Be Cut From New Budget

A bogged-down budget session of the Board of Control adjourned last week after accomplishing few of the items on the agenda. The meeting, held to slice $5800 from the Associated Students budget, ended in postponement with only $950 slashed from the total budget of $78,219.

Frosh Election Set For Polls Thursday

The future of the freshman class will be decided when the freshmen go to the polls next Thursday to elect class officers and representatives-at-large. When the petition deadline had passed, 27 candidates had filed.

NO CONTEST

The two offices of representative-at-large for under 32 units were automatically filled because of lacking competition. Elected to the position for under 32 units were Susan Benjamin and Carol Bondshu. Sue is a graduate of Lowell High school and Carol was active on many school boards in high school.

Bonnie Baltzen and Pat Peterson petitioned to the office for under 16 units. Bonnie graduated from George Washington High school where she participated in many activities, including delegate-at-large to the S. F. Youth Association.

TEN VIE FOR PRESIDENT

Candidates for the office of president include James Donovan, George Katayama, Ray Shepard, Hugh Foley, Pate Thomson, Don Crawford, Leo Tarantino, Ernest G. Howard, Roert Kramer, Jack Brush, and Ben Jacopetti.

Pervis Atkins, Jackie Overstreet, Robert Hemby, Marian Stewart, Dawn Yaley and Ann Ward are running for vice-president.

Vieing for the secretary-treasurer post are Betty Lou Hooey, Sharon McCulley, Carol DeMartini, Barbara Vincenti and Lorraine Elizarde.

BALLOTING THURSDAY

Ballot will be held next Thursday in the lobby of the gym at the new campus and the correction room on the old campus.

Only freshmen vote for class officers, but representative-at-large voting is open to all members of the Associated Students.

The board called in each of the persons submitting budget requests, for the 1953-54 year to answer questions concerning their needs. Voluntary cuts were made by the Speakers Bureau and the Women's Athletic Association. The Speakers Bureau slashed $655 from their request, and the W.A.A. cut their budget by $15.

The Music Federation was cut $200 because of duplication in their budget and that of the Creative Arts Division for travel expenses.

KNUTH EXPLAINS

Dr. Knuth, chairman of the Creative Arts Division, explained his request saying that it would be necessary for the group to "tighten their belts for the coming year." Later, after Dr. Knuth left the meeting, the question arose about the $1100 increase over last year's budget. Dr. Knuth had failed to explain this item. This deadlocked the meeting until he could be contacted at another date.

An argument developed as to the worth of the $1200 being spent for athletic publicity. Some of the members questioned the value of the service received for the amount of money spent.

DOYLE CALLED

Mr. Ray Doyle, director of public relations, was called to the meeting to clarify the point. He related the history of athletic publicity at San Francisco State, saying that it had been inadequate until the present athletic publicist was hired last year.

Board member Jack Anderson asked Mr. Doyle why he was receiving so little publicity at the present time. Doyle answered that it was publicity strategy. He said that it was better to have steady publicity on sports than to use all publicity material in one big "blast." Mr. Doyle ended with a question. "How do you measure the value of publicity?"

The four hour meeting ended in postponement until more detailed information could be obtained on some of the budget requests.—By Bob Horn

Aid for Overseas Schools Planned

By RUTH WOODS

A sober realization of the serious need for better international understanding was expressed when the Northern California branch of the World University Service met at Mills College Sunday, October 4.

As the group of American and overseas students gathered to hear about the need for international awareness, they realized the need of also understanding America's position in the world around her. They heard Dr. Henry G. Dittmar, assistant professor of Humanities, Redlands University, say that America is the slowest to realize the necessity of international education.

WUS IS CHANNEL

The World University Service (WUS) is a channel through which the students of the world unite to "help each other to help themselves." Before WUS can bring the exchange rate of both faculty and students to the amount they deem necessary, they are building up the availability of education to the peoples of the Far East. This is accomplished by raising money from the universities throughout the world. The main purpose of the money is to help destitute students by offering them both housing and equipment.

At the conference Sunday, 10 San Francisco State students heard Carol Treffinger, of Mills College tell how WUS has affected the student in India. There WUS has been responsible for the building of a tuberculosis sanatorium as well as housing for the crowded Indian Universities. The former editor of the Daily Californian told how WUS was working in Indonesia.

SF STATE ORIENTATION

The afternoon session was devoted to "Education for International Understanding on the Campus." Joe de Victoria, member of a four-man panel, told how the overseas student was oriented to life at San Francisco State. He told of the merits of our Overseas Council in its attempt to make the overseas student feel "at home."

The program for action decided by this panel included everything from publicity to overseas tours. The point stressed was the need for timing among the on-campus organizations, eliminating competition for the students interested in international relations, and thus uniting them.

COLLEGE SYSTEMS

Four overseas students, from Korea, Pakistan, Rome, and the Gold Coast, told of the educational systems at their colleges and the official program of the Northern California World University Service Fall Conference ended.

Bert Phillips, co-chairman of the conference read this closing statement, "No student generation has been so seriously confronted as has ours with the necessity for global awareness, international understanding, and the acceptance of mutual responsibility for our common destiny."

Student-Owned Endeavor: College Union Dining Hall

'Operation Food Service' is Integrated, Self-Sustaining

By KEN FROMBERG

By this time the student body of San Francisco State College has had an opportunity to acquaint itself with the services of the new cafeteria, or the College Union Dining Hall, as it is officially designated. The popularity of the grill room needs no recounting, as the number of students utilizing the main dining room attests to the popularity of this spot.

Not as prominent, but nonetheless equally as much a part of "Operation Food Service" are the group dining rooms, the faculty dining room and the private and catering services offered through the food center.

But it may be of interest to know what goes on behind the scenes too.

MENU PLANNERS

Of course there is the daily task to be performed by Mrs. Erna Lehan, director of food service, and her staff, to round out the menu for the students. Assisting her in this task is Chef Clarence Sexton, formerly of the Stanford Student Union, the Matson Navigation Company, the Bohemian Club and Pan American Air Lines, to name a few.

And there's Mrs. Lena Peirano, service manager, who has been with the college food service for the past ten years and who is at present operating the food service on the old campus. Mrs. Peirano will join the staff on the new campus as soon as the cafeteria at the other branch is shut down.

And there are the specialty people, the ones who prepare the food, serve it and clean up in preparation to starting the whole operation the following day. There's the baker (San Francisco State has its own bake shop) who prepares all the pie, cakes and pastries.

But more than all this. There is the intricate setup that allows the whole operation to function.

Primarily, the Associated Students of San Francisco State College (that's you) operate the food service.

The cafeteria receives no subsidy from the student body card sales, fund or from any other source. It is kept on a break-even basis. Out of the income from the sale of food must come all operating expenses plus the cost of maintenance.

LESSON OPERATING EXPENSE

And here, Bert Phillips, president of the Associated Students of San Francisco State College, points out, is where the co-operation of the students will work to their own advantage. The less the operational expense, the more attractive can be the service.

"A study of the price structure is under way at this time," Phillips said last week, and a statement as to the findings of this group will be released by the middle of next month."

HOSTS AND HOSTESSES

Phillips also said that plan were being formulated whereby service groups would assume the task of acting as hosts and hostesses in the dining room.

Executive Dean Butler and Mrs. Lehan both emphasized the importance of freeing the tables as quickly as possible during the lunch period from 11:30 to 1:30. Also, Dean Butler said, the students should not take up table space with their books. This problem of books is expected to rectify itself as soon as the new checking stands are installed.

NO STUDY HALL

With the exception of the lunch hour, however, Mrs. Lehan said, the students are free to loiter over their coffee for social visits. But, they should not use the dining hall facilities for a study hall, she added. "This is the purpose of the library."

"A descriptive brochure is being made available to the student body," the director of food service said, "and it includes a listing of building decorum. It is hoped the students will read and follow these ten rules."

"Remember," she concluded, "the State of California has provided this beautiful building not merely for the contemporary student but for future generations as well. Let's pass it on in as fine a condition as we received it."

Thirty Year History of Food Service Recounted from Hut to New Building

Some 30 years ago the food service at San Francisco State Teachers College consisted of a small cafeteria in a hut under the supervision of Miss Alice Spelman, teacher of the one-woman home economics department at that time.

trade away from the neighborhood eateries.

Finally, after moving off campus and then back on, the cafeteria was set up in the basement of College Hall by Mrs. Marbles, librarian, who operated both the food service and the book store for a short time.

Then in 1947, when President Leonard was making plans for the new campus of San Francisco State College, Mrs. Erna Lehan accepted the position of director of food services, leaving Stanford University where she had been doing residence food work for 12 years.

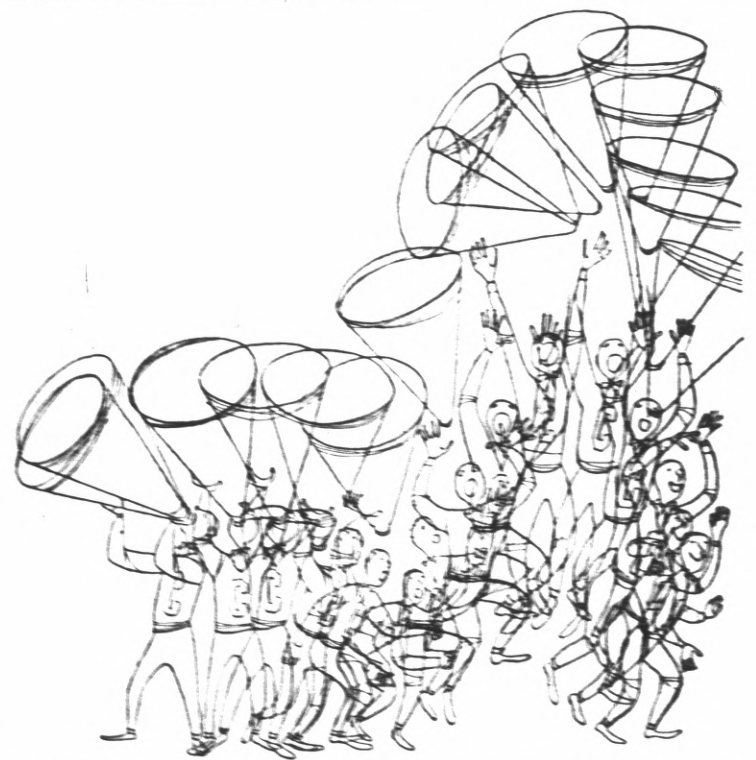

Through the combined efforts of many, notably President Leonard, Executive Dean Butler and Mrs. Lehan, the present $700,000 plant has been placed at the disposal of the students of San Francisco State College.

Dr. Stewart Remains Active Through Illness; Holds Graduate Seminars

Dr. Robert Stewart, former professor of psychology at San Francisco State College, now recovering from polio at his home in Oakland, is holding seminars for graduate students and guiding them in the writing of their Masters Thesis in Education. He is also helping students in fieldwork in psychology. Assisting him in his various achievements is Dr. Levine, professor of psychology at State.

In November of 1952 Dr. Stewart was stricken by polomyelitis resulting in the paralysis of his arms and legs. Since that time he has done all of his breathing by an artificial respirator. He has made remarkable progress in the past year and only last week he participated in a panel discussion at a rehabilitation institute sponsored by the Chronic Illness Service of San Francisco. In addition to his various other tasks Dr. Stewart is writing a book.

Dr. Stewart came to San Francisco State College in September of 1947. Previously he taught in Berkeley public schools and served as personal counselor with the U. S. Army from 1944 to 1946.

He obtained his A. B. degree at the University of Wisconsin and his M. A., PhD at the University of California. He also served as an associate of the American Psychology Association.

Burned AFOTC Given Assistance

Burned out AFOTC is now back to 90 per cent of their past abilities. Stanford and the University of California helped out by giving uniforms and equipment. Repairable equipment was sent to civilian companies to be repaired.

The cause of the fire which destroyed $15,000 worth of government property is unknown. Arson inspectors officially listed the cause as unknown but they believe that it was spontaneous combustion.

Supply Sgt. Egly said it would be about a year before they are back to normal.

At the present time there are two ways for students driving automobiles to leave the campus parking lot and attain a heading in the general direction of downtown San Francisco, and they are both dangerous. The two outlets are 19th avenue and Holloway.

The first is to travel south on 19th avenue to Holloway and then either turn left on Holloway towards Junipero Serra boulevard or make a "U" turn back in the reverse direction on 19th avenue. This requires dodging the onrushing 19th avenue traffic.

The second method is to turn right onto Holloway and then make a "U" turn back towards Junipero Serra boulevard, risking the oncoming Holloway traffic.

Students, whether alone or carrying passengers, may tend to be pre-occupied or distracted by activity within the car. In either case the risk of a head-on collision while making the loop back to San Francisco is great.

There is already a footwalk across the streetcar tracks immediately opposite the exit from the parking lot, which could be widened into an automobile crossing. The installation of traffic signals at such a spot would provide pedestrians with safety besides eliminating the dangers of the "U" turn or left turn on busy 19th avenue.

Such a project would of course be great in dollars, but cheap in terms of maiming injuries and lives.

Game Shows School Spirit Increase

Everyone in the past, including the Golden Gater, has been severe in criticism about the students' lack of enthusiasm for the school, or "school spirit."

Now is the time for those people, including the Golden Gater, to eat crow. School spirit has arrived at San Francisco State, "con gusto." Anyone present at last week's football game in Cox Stadium will testify to that fact.

Although State touchdowns became almost monotonous, enthusiasm in the stands never dwindled. If the band was silent for long, yells and cheers filled the silence. The roaring spectators, standing each time State went over the goal, soon took on the appearance of a group doing calisthenics. In last year's initial attempt at card stunts, such poor cooperation was received that they were abandoned after one pitiful try.

Last week, the card display was excellent. The rooters' cooperation and spirit showed in the halftime activities. Four card stunts; "Cal Tech," the American Flag, "Gators," and "Give Blood," were shown to the guests in the opposite stands.

Contributing to the spirit, besides the yell leaders and band, were two alligators and a little black dog prancing around. Congratulations Staters for something long overdue!

Gators Light Backfield Fronted by Light Line; Rely on Speed, Agility

By LeROY PACINI

When State ran wild in last week's game against Cal Tech, it could have truly been said that Maury Duncan led the charge of the "light brigade," for the Gators are fielding what amounts to be one of the lightest backfields, or for that matter one of the lightest teams, in its history.

It seems somewhat ironical that the man who needs less weight in the backfield than anyone else, the quarterback, is the biggest man among State's 14 backs. This man, of course, is Maury Duncan, who, at 6 feet 1 inch is the only six footer in the backfield. At 185 pounds, Maury is matched in weight only by fullback Walt Gomez.

It is also ironical that the smallest man on the State squad, five foot five Harry "The Horse" Bremond, was the big man in State's offensive machine against Cal Tech, averaging over 20 yards a carry and scoring three touchdowns.

LIGHT BACKFIELD

The lightest State back is quarterback Dick Kraft, weighing in at 150 pounds. All in all, State's entire backfield averages something like 5 feet 8 inches in height, and 167 pounds in weight. The starting backfield of Duncan, Rudy Smith, Dick Nave and Gomez, however, was just a little bigger, averaging 5 feet 9 inches, and weighing 175.

An imaginative sports writer could have a field day describing these mighty midgets. If he wanted to get a little corny, he could parallel them with Notre Dame's legendary "Four Horsemen" and call them the "Four Ponies." Or he could call them the mighty mites, or maybe even the midget backfield.

SMALL LINEMAN

For that matter, State's linemen are no giants themselves. They rely on speed and agility, but certainly not heft. The Gator linemen, 23 in all, average out to 5 feet 10 inches in height, and 190 pounds weight-wise. Their tallest men are tackle Bob Foote and end Warren Hagberg, both standing 6 feet 2 inches. Their heaviest man is freshman tackle John Burroughs, who tips the scales at 240 pounds. These men contrast greatly with 5 feet 7 inch guard Jack Renaro, and 155 pound end Ben Elkus. Last week's starting lineup of George Wehner, Bob Foote, Jess Jones, Jerry Harper, Don Slates, Dick Logue and Tony Fardella, averaged the same height as the entire line roster, 5 feet 10 inches, and weighed in only slightly heavier at 194 pounds.

SMALL TARGETS

Even the ends, who ordinarily

PAYROLL DEDUCTION DUE IN HEALTH PLAN

Kaiser Health Plan, held by many of the faculty and administrative personnel, has been working in co-operation with Bill Spry, business manager of the Associated Students, to change the existing policy on payments.

In the near future, payments will probably be handled through payroll deductions instead of the present method whereby one has to come in to make the payment in person to the business office of the Associated Students.

This new method should relieve both the paying members of keeping track of their payments and also the administrative personnel that often must send out reminders to those who forget to come in at the regular time.

are the lankiest players on a football squad, through necessity of presenting good targets to passers, average only 5 feet 11 inches in height. The starting ends, George Wehner and Tony Fardella, are only 5 feet 11 inches and 5 feet 10 inches, respectively.

As a whole, the team of veritable lilliputians, averages 5 feet 10 inches in height and 183 pounds in weight. The starting lineup goes in at 5 feet 10 inches and 187½ pounds.

Soccer Team Meets USF'ers Tomorrow At Hilltop; Dons Hold Experience Edge

A rebuilding Golden Gator soccer squad goes on the road tomorrow, as they travel to USF to meet the Hilltoppers in their league opener. The Dons, undefeated in 46 conference contests, and league champions for the past five years, are favored to cop the crown again this year.

With 15 returning lettermen forming the "nucleus" for the always potent USF'ers, they are, in Gator Coach Bridgeman's words, "loaded." In addition, the Dons have nearly a like number of outstanding new men out for the squad.

Two right-wings, Alash and Totten; goalie Rosenberg; halfbacks Verducci and Delageane; fullbacks Anderson and Berrie; and inside-left Thurling also stood up well in the fray for the Gators.

"We may not be loaded as USF, but we'll give every team in the league a run for their money," said Bridgeman.

Krase Named to Advisory Club Post

Carol Krase won the secretary-treasurer post of the Club Advisory Association last Monday evening by acclamation. Alice Pappas left the position open after turning in her resignation to the executive board.

After the election, three faculty members were nominated by the organization as advisors. Dr. Andreina Colonna and Mr. Ray Kaufman of the Humanities Division and Mr. Robert Orth of the Creative Arts Division will be asked to serve for the calendar 1953-1954 year.

With no corrections or additions from the floor, the newly revised by-laws of the organization were passed by a rather narrow majority of the members present. "Functioning of the entire group will become much easier under the new by-laws," said George Poquette, newly elected president.

Declared off-campus by the CAA were the following organizations: Alpha Chi Epsilon, Canterbury Club, Hillel Foundation, Humanities Club, Lutheran Discussion Group, Sigma Alpha Eta, and the United Language Club.

Many organizations not present will be declared off-campus if they do not attend the next monthly meeting. Any club that does not file an organization card by this afternoon at 1 p.m. in Miss Bunnell's office in the Administration building will be declared off-campus by the CAA.

Five chairmen have yet to be appointed by the president George Poquette. The five councils are Class, Honorary, Inter-Fraternity-Sorority, Interest and Professional, and Inter-Faith.

Gators Shade Cal Tech, 52-0; Bremond, Duncan Star in Win

By CAROL MUNROE

The passing of QB Maury Duncan and the running of scatback Harry Bremond spelled defeat for the Cal Tech Engineers at Cox Stadium last Friday night.

Duncan passed three times to end George Wehner for touchdowns and set up three more TD's with aials to lead the 52-0 scoring barrage.

NAVE SCORES

Duncan set up the first tally in last Friday's game when he threw a 30 yarder to Rudy Smith who rambled to the Engineer seven. On the next play Dick Nave went over left tackle for the score.

Five minutes later center Jerry Harper recovered a loose fumble on the Tech 32. Two plays later Duncan passed to Wehner for 29 yards and a TD. Duncan's PAT attempt was low. The first quarter ended at 13-0.

Midway in the second quarter Harry Bremond made a spectacular 50 yard pay dirt run on back Ran Saliba's punt. Duncan split the uprights to leave the half-time score at 20-0.

DUNCAN'S TD PASSES

The third quarter saw Duncan set up all three Gator scores. Duncan passed to Wehner for two TD's on aials of 29 and 27 yards. The other tally was set up when Harper recovered a fumble on the Tech 35. One play later Duncan threw to Wehner for 29 yards and a TD. Duncan's PAT was blocked. Score at the end of three quarters, State 33, Tech 0.

BREMOND SCORES

The fourth stanza was highlighted by two TD's via the Kraft to Bremond route. The first was a hand-off nine yards out and the final tally of the contest was executed on a hand-off from Kraft to Bremond on the State 22. Bremond outmaneuvered a host of Engineer tacklers for the TD.

MOFFETT FIELD TONIGHT

Tonight the Gators endanger their unblemished record when they tackle a strong Moffett Field eleven.

Moffett Field and State had one previous encounter in 1940. The Moffett Fielders came out on the short end of a 20-0 score.

JV Gator Gridders Goofed 40-0 in Grid Debut With Menlo College Oaks

State's 1953 JV gridders suffered a 40-0 setback at the hands of the Menlo College Oaks last Friday evening in Cox Stadium. Things went wrong for the Gators from the opening moments of the game when the visitors put on a display of strength until the final gun. The outcome of the game was never in doubt.

State kicked off to begin the game, and three plays later, Menlo's Bill Ayer rambled 20 yards to a touchdown. After kicking off, the blue-clad Oaks held the San Franciscans and gained possession of the ball on a punt by Tolson. Jack Kelly, Menlo halfback, climaxed his team's drive by hitting for paydirt from 15 yards out. The quarter ended with the invaders ahead by 13 points.

SCORELESS QUARTER

From the beginning of the second stanza until halftime, the locals played fired-up football, and matched the Blue and White, block for block, and tackle for tackle. Tolson led the gold helmeted Gators, offensively, while the entire team had a share in stopping the explosive Menlo offense, and thereby putting a scoreless quarter in the record books.

LOOKED DARK

Bad breaks did anything but kill the spirit of the peninsula team, for Alexander raced into the end zone for the second time. Fred Moeller converted to give Menlo its twentieth point. Things really looked dark for the Purple and Gold when they fumbled the kickoff, and in a matter of seconds, the Blue Wave had 27 points on the scoreboard.

The final period opened with a pass interception that set up

Menlo's sixth touchdown. Tom Jones scored six plays later from the three yard line. Kelly blocked the conversion, and Menlo led 33-0. The Oaks immediately regained possession of the pigskin by virtue of a Gator fumble but State's defense, sparked by Kelly, refused to let the opponent move anywhere.

Menlo punted and for the first time in the second half, the Golden Tide began to put on an offensive show. Paul Pina, who had come into the game at the quarterback post, provided the onlookers with some thrills with his variety of running and passing. A penalty finally stopped the Gator's drive, and Pina punted.

State, in the person of Pervis Atkins began to move, but time had run out on the Alligators, and the game ended with the one-sided score of 40 points for the Oaks and a big goose-egg for the Gators.

'Harry The Horse' Goes For 125 Yards; 3 TD's

By LeROY PACINI

Harry "The Horse" Bremond, player of the week, would have made Citation look like a yearling had they been running the same track last Friday night at Cox Stadium.

Bremond, a "three year old" (Jr.), galloped to three touchdowns against Cal Tech, as he led State to a 52-0 victory in one of the mightiest offensive thrusts in its history.

BREMOND ROLLS

When the dust had cleared from the track and the rest of the racers were back in their paddocks, Bremond was found to have run for 125 yards in six carries. Among this conglomeration of yardage compiled by "The Horse," were scintillating dashes to the finish wire of three and 78 yards from scrimmage and a 48 yard punt return.

Bremond, at 5 feet 5 inches and 150 pounds, is the only man on the squad with whom Coach Joe Veducchi can see eye to eye, got a late start at the gate when he didn't start the game, but, doing most of his playing in the second half, he left them all behind once he got started.

COMMERCE GUARD

Bremond was not the only outstanding player of last Friday night's touchdown jamboree. With a score like 52-0, there is always bound to be several men who can qualify for the distinction of the most outstanding player.

Among players who gave Bremond a run for his title were the perennial passing perfectionist Maury Duncan, end George Wehner his prime target, halfbacks Rudy Smith and Dick Nave, both of whom not only chewed up the turf offensively but also starred defensively, and guards Jess Jones, a defensive demon, and Don Slates, who tore numerous holes in the Cal Tech line on the offensive side of the ledger.

The selection of Bremond was made by a consensus of opinion from the pressbox.

Seasoned Service Squad Set for Close Contest in Cox Stadium

By DAVE KRUG

State's varsity gridders, after routing the Cal Tech Engineers 52-0 last week, will be after the hide of Moffett Field, when the Airmen invade Cox Stadium tonight. The contest will be State's second official game, although the Gators did defeat Presidio Army base 19-0 in a game scrimmage, two weeks ago.

Moffett, on the other hand, has four games already under their belts, two of these being contests with the tough Santa Cruz Seahawks, and both of which the Flyers dropped by scores of 12-6 and 25-19.

COACH, JOE MOORE

Moffett will be high for the contest, as their coach, Joe Moore, was JV football coach at San Francisco State, and he'll have his team up for the game. Tonight's invaders have a very big team, 20 of their 35 players tip the scales at better than 200 pounds. Also, the Airmen play a very rough, aggressive game.

One important fact that gives the Moffett men a definite advantage is that their second team is almost equal to their first, whereas State could lack reserve power.

EXPERIENCED BACKS

State's appearance last week appeared very effective. Maury Duncan took up right where he left off last year, slinging the football like a pro. Rudy Smith and Rich Nave had little trouble running through and around the Techmen.

This week, however, State's backs will have to match wits with such backs as Louis Kutzera, a veteran with six years of football experience, Hank Cooper, an ex-Vallejo JC star, and W. Ketchum, a 200 pound fullback who can really drive.

The boys from the Naval Air Base have a lot of potential, and if they can play as a unit, they would definitely be able to trim the Staters. They haven't, as yet, jelled into a single unit, however.

MOFFETT BIG

When asked what he thought about the size of the opponents, Coach Veducchi commented, "They're big, they're fast, and they may hurt us physically."

The Flyers on defense are a team that could be difficult to penetrate. They charge hard, but may not be ready for a well mixed variety of runs and passes.

Offensively, Moffett is a very explosive team. The Flyers success will most likely depend upon their power rather than their deception. The Airmen do not display a variety of plays, but the ones they use, they know well.

ALL-AROUND OFFENSE

Although the Navy team usually concentrates upon its running attack, it has the ability to open up with an exceptional aerial show, for their passers hit their ends with a great deal of accuracy almost every time they throw the ball.

According to Coach Veducchi, the Golden Gators must use lots of speed and deception to beat Moffett Field. The Purple and Gold will have to be on its toes, and out-hustle the visitors, to stay in the ranks of the undefeated.

Ambitious Schedule Seen as Athletes Prep for Varied Intramural Activity

Plans for the Intramural All-Sports Tournament recently announced by Intramural Director Bill Harkness, appear to have all the earmarks for what may prove to be one of the most interesting and ambitious activities conducted by State this semester.

Harkness explained the rules of the tournament, which are as follows. The main rule is that all teams must participate in all sports on the intramural program. If they are delinquent (fail to show up for the game, late, etc.) or do not participate in one or more of the sports, as explained above, they will immediately be eliminated from the tournament.

The scoring will probably be three points for first place, two for second, and one for third place. The total points compiled by the individual teams over the span of the season will determine the winner of the tournament. There will be no playoff or post season games of any type involved.

The members of the winning team will receive buckles.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Intramural Publicity Director Bob Arata announces the conception of a new four league intramural basketball schedule.

There will be frosh, open, fraternity, and Tuesday evening leagues. Signs will be placed around the gym and the campus, stating deadlines for signups.

Those interested in participating should contact either Bill

Harkness, Director of Intramurals, or Art Bridgeman, as soon as possible.

John Trucelli heads the league. Sign-ups for the intramural soccer league will be held today, Friday, Oct. 9th, in the gym.

Team captains will be required to sign, and should bring them the team rosters. For further information regarding signing procedures, team captains should contact either Bill Harkness or Art Bridgeman.

Judoists Needed in Club

Ron-Dori, Japanese contest, and participation in outside tournaments will form the program of the projected Judo Club. The club, open to all students who hold any type of judo belt, is one of the first attempts to form a group of this type at S. F. State.

Mr. Harkness, in the gymnasium, will take the names and telephone numbers of those interested in the group. The names should be left, along with a schedule of free hours, in care of Harold Johnson. Further information will be posted in the main bulletin board in the gym or will appear in the Golden Gater.
